BELTING THE WORLD.

Great Fleet Starts on Its Record-Breaking Journey.

PLEASANT TIMES IN STORE.

Scheduled to Reach Home Next February.

San Francisco, July 7.—A splendid picture of America's fighting strength on the sea was presented today when the sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet, led by the magnificent Connecticut, with Rear Admiral Sperry on the bridge, headed out of the Golden Gate and bathed their bows in the blue Pacific.

In imposing array they passed beyond the headlands, out of the view of the thousands of cheering watchers on shore and started fairly on the long voyage through five seas from San Francisco to Hampton Roads—a striking demonstration of the power and efficiency of the United States navy.

Sixteen battleships were in line, divided into four divisions and two squadrons. In the first division of the first squadron were the flagship of Sperry, the Connecticut, and her sister ships, the Kansas, Minnesota and Vermont. This division, as well as the entire fleet, is under the immediate command of Sperry. The second division of the first squadron is commanded by Acting Rear Admiral Wainwright, and consists of the flagship Georgia and her sister ships, the Nebraska, New Jersey and Rhode Island.

Rear Admiral Emory commands the second squadron and third division, and is aboard of the flagship Louisiana. The Virginia, Ohio and Missouri also are in this division. The fourth division, under the command of Acting Rear Admiral Schenck, is made up of the flagship Wisconsin and the Illinois, Kearsarge and Kentucky. The Nebraska and Wisconsin, formerly of the Pacific fleet, have taken the places of the Maine and Alabama of the Atlantic fleet, which are en route to Hampton Roads as a special service squadron.

The fleet auxiliaries preceded the battleships by a week, and are now nearing Honolulu, where they will unload supplies and sail away for New Zealand before the arrival of the fleet at Honolulu. These auxiliaries are the Panther, repair ship; Glacier, refrigeration supply ship; Culgoon, supply ship; Ajax, oiler; Relief, hospital ship; and Yankton, tender and dispatch boat.

The battleships which sailed today on the longest voyage ever undertaken by such a powerful fleet, during which they will completely encircle the world, from Hampton Roads to Hampton Roads, have a total tonnage of 182,100 tons. The fleet is capable of steaming on an average of ten knots an hour under any sea conditions, and is following an itinerary which will bring the ships to Manila on Oct. 1, 1908.

The complete route from Manila to Hampton Roads has not yet been definitely announced, but it is expected that the fleet will arrive at its ultimate destination during the latter part of February, 1909, when it will be joined at Hampton Roads by most of the other ships of the American navy then on the Atlantic coast and this great fleet of war vessels will again be reviewed by President Roosevelt just prior to his going out of office.

The fleet is scheduled to arrive at Honolulu July 16. Residents of that remote possession of the United States have prepared a magnificent and fitting reception to the officers and men, which will be in the nature of a reception and a belated Fourth of July celebration combined.

After a stay of one week in Honolulu, the fleet will proceed to Auckland, N. Z. It is by special invitation of the New Zealand government that the American ships go there, and at this port the "Yankies" sailors will receive their first greetings from a foreign people since leaving South America. This greeting will be particularly cordial and the entertainment arranged for officers and men promises to be magnificent. The fact that this great fleet will come at the end of the longest leg of the voyage around the world will tend to make it all the more welcome.

Perhaps the greatest of all the entertainments to be given the men of the fleet in any foreign city, however, will be waiting their arrival at Sydney, Australia, where the warships, after leaving Auckland on Aug. 15, will arrive on Aug. 29. Half a million dollars is the sum the government of Australia and the people of Sydney have appropriated for the entertainment of the American sailors. Varied and many are the pleasures the Australians have planned and placed in store for them during the nine days of their stay at that port.

Athlone and Albany are two other ports of Australia where the fleet will stop, and where open-handed hospitality and lavish entertainment will be given the men. From the port of Albany the fleet will steam on Sept. 17 for Manila, and it will arrive in those American waters, the last home port until Hampton Roads, on Oct. 1.

The reception to be accorded the fleet in Manila will be a striking one, and the entertainment of the officers and men ashore will be as cordial and heartily as it is elaborate, as the receptions at other places.

Great interest is felt in the fleet's visit to Japan. Proceeding to Yokohama from Manila, the fleet will arrive there on Oct. 17. Here, on Oct. 21, it will be divided, the first squadron returning Oct. 30 to Manila, while the second squadron will steam to Amoy, China, where it will arrive Oct. 29.

The promise is that the welcome to be given the Americans in Yokohama will not be second in graciousness at least, to anything met with at any port previously touched; for it is upon the special invitation of the Emperor of Japan that the fleet goes there.

At Amoy the reception will doubtless be the occasion of a great celebration characteristic of the Chinese. The two squadrons of the fleet will be brought together again at Manila on Nov. 7, and the departure thence for Aden and the passage of the Suez canal will take place within the following few days, the exact date not yet having been determined.

ARREST PERHAPS WRONGFUL.

Philadelphia, July 7.—Though the police pretend to believe that Frederick Gies, Jr., arrested as a suspect in the case, knows something about the murder of Dr. William H. Wilson of this city, who died after drinking a bottle of ale containing cyanide of potassium, developments tend to show that the authorities have blundered in the matter and that Gies finds himself in an embarrassing position as the result of his efforts to protect the name of his young wife.

HOT WAVE CONTINUES.

Boston, July 7.—Two deaths and a score of prostrations was the toll that Boston yielded yesterday for its rank among the four hottest cities of the country. While the official thermometer in the comparatively cool heights on top of the federal building registered 91, street thermometers were for a while that mark. Among the crowded tenements the suffering was terrible.

POLICE AFTER FANATICS.

Winnipeg, Man., July 7.—A detachment of twenty royal northwest mounted police started for Pearson, Man., twenty-five miles north of the Dakota boundary line, where a large party of armed religious fanatics are camping. The leader says he is Jesus Christ and that his wife is the Virgin Mary. They are bound to join the Doukhobors in Saskatchewan.

A COLD WATER FUNCTION.

Boston, July 7.—Swedish and American Good Templars united last night in giving a banquet in Faneuil hall to Edward Waverley of Stockholm, the present head of the international lodge of the Good Templar order and the senior member of the Swedish parliament. Waverley has been visiting Scandinavian grand lodges in Illinois, Minnesota and New York.

SHIFT OF DIPLOMATS.

Copenhagen, July 7.—Constantin Brum, the Danish minister to the United States, is to be transferred from Washington to London to succeed F. E. De Bille, who retires from the diplomatic service. Count Von Moltke, the minister to Italy, whose wife was a daughter of Nathaniel Thayer of Boston, will succeed Brum at Washington.

CHILD KIDNAPPED.

New York, July 7.—Every policeman in the greater city is searching for Frances Allgren, 3 years old, who, they believe, has been spirited away by Black Hand agents and is being held for ransom. The parents of the girl received a letter informing them that Frances would be restored to them upon payment of $100.

GOT A LIGHT SENTENCE.

Port Huron, Mich., July 7.—William L. Wilson, who embezzled more than $25,000 of the funds of the United Home Protectors' Fraternity, with headquarters in this city, was sentenced to a term of not less than 2½ years nor more than five years. Wilson's shortage resulted in wrecking the fraternity.

EASY FOR FAIR PLAY.

Sheephead Bay, N. Y., July 7.—The spring meeting of the Coney Island Jockey club came to a close with the running of the Lawrence Realization stakes, worth $17,500 to the winner, which resulted in an easy victory for August Belmont's Fair Play.

TO ENTERTAIN ATHLETES.

London, July 7.—The efforts of The Daily Mail, directed towards raising a fund for the entertainment of the visiting athletes who are to take part in the Olympic games, have met with a large measure of success, $37,500 having been subscribed.

TELEGRAPHIC RECEIVITIES.

The Russian wheat crop this year is so bad that representatives of American agricultural machinery manufacturers are countermarching orders.

George Harrington, a stockman at the country residence of Alfred G. Vanderbilt at Portsmouth, N. I., was drowned while bathing at Sandy Point beach.

Postmaster General Meyer, who was made somewhat ill several days ago by eating unwholesome food, has entirely recovered.

The cotton mills of the Naushon company at Valley Falls, R. I., have shut down for two weeks. The mills employ 400 hands.

Minnesota has been selected as the next meeting place of the National Young People's Christian Union of the Universalist church in 1909.

STRENGTH OF BRYAN.

His Nomination Likely by a Practically Unanimous Vote.

THE SILENCE OF NEW YORK.

II Results in the Allied Opposition

Crumbling to Pieces—Guffey and Sullivan Re-elected National Committee—Men Against Wishes of Bryan—Difficulty Over Injunction Plank in Platform.

Denver, July 7.—The wave of Bryan sentiment has increased to apparently overwhelming and irresistible proportions, and the nomination of the Nebraskaan seems now assured beyond any reasonable doubt unless some unlooked for reversal of present conditions occurs. All efforts to unite on a vice presidential candidate have proved futile, and the convention began its deliberations today with the contest for second place wide open.

A majority of the Pennsylvania delegation in caucus named James M. Guffey as national committeeman, in open defiance of Bryan's demand for his displacement, and on the heels of Guffey's stinging public arraignment of Bryan as a "hypocrite, ingrate and falsifier."

An infantry of the Pennsylvania delegation held a rump caucus which sought to depose Guffey from leadership and install James Kerr, a Bryan man, as Pennsylvania leader.

The New York delegation appointed a committee of ten to draft a platform and named Alton B. Parker, the Democratic standard bearer of 1904, as the New York representative on the platform committee. The New York caucus was silent on the presidential and vice presidential situation, and New York still fails to show her colors.

The Democratic national committee held its first meeting to consider contests, which resulted in the dismissal of Senator McCarran's New York contests and the seating of Roger Sullivan of Illinois delegates.

An Eventful Day

The foregoing are only the main features of an eventful day—a day marked by the culmination of that noisy demonstration which ushered in a national convention, with delegations and their hosts of followers pouring into town, with bands and marching clubs, and with streets and hotel lobbies filled with surging crowds.

And all this confusion the men of action have worked unceasingly. Most of the states effected their organization, electing members of the committees which will serve today. The arrivals have practically completed the roster of state delegations and have gained an idea of the aggregate strength commanded by the Bryan forces.

There has been one continuous swelling of the Bryan strength, with only scattering accessions for other candidates. This has become so apparent that the nomination of Bryan seems assured, not only by the required two-thirds vote of the convention, but by practically a unanimous vote, except that of Minnesota and Delaware, whose representatives still insist they will be steadfast to the end to their favorite sons, and scattering anti-Bryan votes from Georgia, New York, Pennsylvania, Maine and several other localities, a scattering opposition dwarfed by the magnitude of Bryan's total.

New York Holds the Key

While this steady tide of Bryan strength has been setting in, the allied opposition have been looking intently but vainly toward New York, for it has been recognized that Chief Murphy, the political genius of the delegation, held a key which might unlock a movement of genuine force against the Nebraska. With New York taking the lead and throwing its seventy-eight votes against Bryan, Guffey and his Pennsylvania cohorts would have followed suit. Georgia was wavering and likely to turn a back of southern strength away from Bryan, and this, with the organized strength of Johnson and Gray, might have given vitality to the allied opposition.

But all these reckonings have come to naught because of New York's persistent silence. Murphy is neither for Bryan nor against him, and with this leadership, aimless position, the allied opposition has crumbled to pieces. If Murphy has waited for some one else to take the lead, as is generally believed, he will have the satisfaction of going back to New York with the declaration that it would have been looking in political sagacity for New York to act against Bryan until the aggregate strength of the opposition was demonstrated to be sufficient to defeat him.

Figures of Allies

For the first time the allied opposition has disclosed figures showing what might have happened had New York announced at the outset that its seventy-eight votes would be swung against Bryan. According to this tally a total of 349 votes, or considerably more than the necessary number to block a Bryan nomination, would have swung into line with New York. The total vote of the convention is 1002, the one-third necessary to prevent a nomination being 334, whereas the allied opposition claimed fifteen in excess of this requirement had New York furnished the requisite vote.

A meeting was held late last night of the various anti-Bryan elements, during which the situation was fully canvassed and a practical agreement reached that it was futile to continue the fight in view of New York's inaction.

The heated contest in the Pennsylvania delegation raged around Guffey, but his victory, his enemies claim, is less significant than might appear. The hopes of the Bryan men are centered on the nine contesting delegates from Pennsylvania. As these contestants are Bryan men, they are practically assured of being seated by the Bryan committee on credentials, and, once seated, Guffey's victory may be succeeded by Bryan's final triumph today, according to the calculations of the Bryan men. Against this, however, Guffey secured the signatures of forty Pennsylvania delegates whose seats are uncontested, and who have an undisputed majority of sixty-eight Pennsylvania votes regardless of contest.

Sullivan Gets By
Against the wishes of Bryan, the Illinois delegation re-elected Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic national committeeman for the state of Illinois, and also chairman of the delegation. They also, against Bryan's wishes, made known to the delegation, elected Samuel A. Schuler a member of the committee on resolutions, in place of Edward F. Dunne. Sullivan sought to have the delegation reconsider their action and elect in his stead, as national committeeman, Charles Boenschstein, but in that he was overruled. The announcement of the election of Sullivan was greeted with vociferous applause.

The Cleveland Resolutions

The appointment of the committee on credentials, rules and permanent organization will be followed today by the presentation of resolutions on the memory of Grover Cleveland. Judge Parker has prepared a new draft of these resolutions, completely eliminating politics and dealing only with the eminent public services of Cleveland. If, however, there is a slightest disposition on the part of any one of Bryan's friends to object to the Parker resolution, owing to the feeling created by its early provisions, it will not be presented. Today's proceedings will be brief and after the preliminary organization is effected an adjournment will be taken as a mark of respect to Cleveland.

The Injunction Plank

Exhortations are multiplying that probably the only difficult plank to prepare for the Democratic platform will be that relating to the use of injunctions in industrial disputes. Bryan has let it be known that his position on this plank is not rigid. He has stated clearly that he realizes that there might arise situations where the issuance of an injunction without notice to those enjoined would be the only remedy against loss of life or irreparable damage to property. To meet such cases, Bryan has further indicated that if the resolutions committee could draw a plank which would provide for such emergencies, with the safeguard that this class of injunctions should be self-dissolving after a period of three or five days, the plank would meet his approval.

Work on the platform continues through the medium of an informal committee consisting of Governor Haskell, who is to be chairman of the resolutions committee, and a number of prominent members of the party who will have places on that committee. The plan contemplates telephoning each plank to Bryan at Lincoln as soon as it is agreed upon by the subcommittee. In this manner it will be possible for the subcommittee to present to the full resolutions committee a perfect platform which already has received the approval of the prospective candidate.

The tariff plank has come in for considerable discussion, with the result that this language was put forward tentatively as embodying the position the party should take: "The Democratic party believes in tariff for revenue only, but, inasmuch as the expense of the government is great, and we are depending largely upon imports for the revenues for running the government, which means the imposition of a tariff, we favor the laying of the tariff duties in such a manner that there shall be no discrimination in behalf of any section of the country or any industry."

Bay State Men's Attitude

"Massachusetts will cast her votes for W. J. Bryan," declared John W. Connelley, the newly selected leader of the national committee from Massachusetts, upon the adjournment of that state's caucus. "We have held no conference as to the vice presidency and are leaving that matter in abeyance. Ex-Governor Douglas has said he cannot run and we are proceeding accordingly."

George F. Williams was selected as the state's representative on the convention platform committee. The caucus was quite extended and there was some rather sharp talk, most of it being occasioned by the fact that no Boston man was elected on the various convention committees. The Boston men put the blame for this upon Williams' shoulders.

Humphrey O'Sullivan introduced in the caucus a resolution asking that a plank be inserted in the platform urging King Edward to use his good offices to bring about the legislative freedom of Ireland and a closer relation between all English-speaking people. After some discussion Williams was directed to present the resolution to the platform committee for its disposition.

For three hours the eight members of the Vermont delegation battled for national committeeman. The seventh-sixth ballot resulted in the selection of T. H. Brown.

BOY SACRIFICED HIS LIFE.

Tried to Save His Chum From Drowning and Both Were Lost.

Middleboro, Mass., July 7.—In a vain attempt to rescue his chum, Kenneth Sturtevant, aged 7 years, from drowning in the Neenasket river, into which he had fallen while fishing from a rock, Albert Kelley, 8 years old, lost his own life. This is the conclusion the police and medical examiners reached when the bodies of the two boys were pulled out of the river with grappling irons.

The lads, who were inseparable companions, started off to fish yesterday afternoon after dinner, the last time they were seen alive. When supper-time came the fathers of both boys, being anxious over their long absence from home, organized a searching party to hunt for the boys. When it was learned that the lads had been seen fishing from the rock a general alarm was sent out, and just at sundown the body of Kelley was found, but the body of the other victim was not recovered until 10 o'clock last night. At the point where the bodies were recovered the water is only six feet deep.

CREDIT TO ROOSEVELT.

New York, July 7.—Chairman Gary of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, who sailed for Europe today, made a most optimistic statement on business conditions. "The basic conditions of the country are sound," he said. "Multitudes have been thoroughly converted to the doctrine of a 'square deal.' It would be useless for any of us to deny that we have been aroused to a keener appreciation of the old maxim that 'honesty is the best policy.' Full credit will be given to President Roosevelt for the efforts he has made in raising the standard of business conduct."

ALLEGED DISCRIMINATION.

Washington, July 7.—A request from the commanding officer of the naval training practice squadron was received at the navigation bureau, asking that the squadron's base be changed from New London to Newport, because of alleged discrimination against the saloonmen of the vessels by certain amusement places at New London on account of their uniforms. The request has been taken under consideration.

MURAT HALSTEAD'S FUNERAL.

Cincinnati, July 7.—Among the pallbearers at the funeral of Murat Halstead, the editor and author, were General Hinton and Stephen Gerard, who celebrated fifty-one years ago as best man and groomsmen at his wedding; Henry Watterson, the Louisville editor; Mayor Marshall, Senator Foraker and eight others. The simple services were conducted by Bishop Walden, a boyhood schoolmate of the dead journalist.

BUNKED OUT FOR AIR.

New York, July 7.—Insofar as it was able, New York's tenement house population, slept out of doors last night. After a day whose scorching heat had struck down fully four score of the greater city's dwellers and had directly or indirectly caused the death of twelve persons, the densely populated East Side sections, as night settled down oppressively, emptied themselves out into every space available.

LOVE'S CABLEGRAMS.

Naples, July 7.—The Duke of the Abruzzi, who is in command of the battleship Regina Elena, stationed off Genoa, is in daily communication by means of the cable with Miss Katharine Elkins. The duke employs a motor boat of the battleship to carry his dispatches to land, and it has been making the trip as often as five or six times a day.

PEACE IN PARAGUAY.

Montevideo, July 7.—A dispatch from Asuncion says that peace has been apparently restored in Paraguay. Emilio Nogera, who was appointed president by the victorious revolution, any party, has assumed control of affairs and the representatives of the foreign powers have interpreted successfully in behalf of the former ministers.

REUT'S HEAVY BAIL.

San Francisco, July 7.—Abram Reut was released from the county jail last night on bonds aggregating $1,000,000. This sum is the aggregate bail on seventy-eight indictments charging Reut with bribing the former board of supervisors in connection with the granting of franchises to public corporations.

POTTER GAINING GROUND.

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 7.—Bishop Potter has continued to improve, notwithstanding the extreme heat, and confidence of his recovery from the present attack is growing. His son and son-in-law left for New York last night.

DESAGAN-GOULD NUPTIALS.

London, July 7.—Prince Des Sagan announces that his marriage to Mme. Gould will take place today before a registrar, and that the civil marriage will be followed by a religious ceremony in the Lutheran church.

THE WEATHER.

Almanac, Wednesday, July 8.
Sun rises—4:45; sets—7:23.
Moon rises—12:17 a. m.
High water—6:15 a. m.; 6:45 p. m.
Fair and continued warm weather will be followed by showers and cooler in New England.

CUNNING BIRDS.

Stratagem of the Lapwing and the Rose of the Thrush.

"The goose is a frightful liar," said a nature fable. "He quite puts me to shame."
"Really? You know how the goose, when you draw near it, hisses? Well, with that hissing sound it says: 'Scott, beware. I am a serpent.' Yes, from principle then the goose has acted this lie. The petulant goose mother, sitting on her eggs in a place of reeds and sedges, would not fly when an intruder appeared; but, keeping her body concealed amid the leaves, she would stretch out her long, flexible neck and hiss wickedly. 'A snake in the grass,' the intruder would say to himself as he retreated, and on her eggs the goose would chuckle in a sly, contemptuous way.

"The lapwing is another liar. Approach her nest and she sets up a distressful crying and runs back and forth in front of you, qualling one who as though it were broken. You follow. You think to snatch her up in your hands. With this lie she lures you away from her young.
"The thrush in time of drought beats with his feet on the grass like a dog dancer. This he does to the earthworms. He makes them think that it is raining. Up they come in silent haste, and the deceitful thrush makes a rich meal."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

WELL BURIED.

Two Funerals For One Man Provided For by His Will.

Curtain directions for the disposal of his remains were left by John Robert Pringle of Catford, who died leaving an estate of gross value of $80,000.38.3d. The testator directed:

"After my decease I desire that a competent and trustworthy doctor of medicine shall, by any expedient he may deem suitable, thoroughly satisfy himself that life is absolutely extinct. My carcass is to be cremated and the resultant thereof deposited in two metal urns, numbered respectively 1 and 2. On the ashes in No. 1 are to be placed a packet, which will be found on my desk, and my miniature portrait, scriptural, and on the ashes in urn No. 2 a similar packet, which also will be found on my desk, and my miniature portrait finger ring."

The directed that the urns were then to be soldered down and No. 1 buried in his mother's grave at Newport, England, and the other in "my dear Elizabeth's grave" in the Streatham cemetery at Twickenham. He also enjoined his son to see that the graves of his mother and of the testator's mother were properly looked after.—London Mail.

At Liberty to Screen.

It was on a ferryboat plying between Sydney and Manly, one of that city's beautiful suburbs. Every seat was occupied. Each occupant felt the influence and prepared for an enjoyable trip when a lady of fifteen appeared, dragging by the hand a screaming child. There she stood, glowering. A mild lady suggested the child might be in pain. An old bachelor muttered that people who had charge of children should keep them at home. Low voiced but distinct imprecations were now rife. She took not the slightest heed of the muttering or the howling, which was now at its highest pitch. All the suggestion was offered that medicine would do it good. "Then she arose in her wrath, as it were, and, giving the child a vigorous shake, said: 'Tithel, cry as loud as you like. I've paid your fare.'—London Times.

Handsome Dogs Are Good Dogs.

In the most characteristic of English dogs, with the English bulldog as an unfortunate exception of a glaring kind, common sense principles in the canon of judging are distinctly marked. In the case of hounds any good eye can pick out the best animals. This was emphatically illustrated not long since in private when an artist taken over one of the larger hounds of foxhounds placed on the prize and pedigree dogs one after the other. He went purely by his own sense of what was strong and comely, of "strength and beauty met together," as Shelley says in a very different connection.—London Outlook.

The British Breed.

British bred animals, whether they be horses, cattle, sheep or even pigs, are superior to all others in quality and stamina. There is some strange and admirable power in our soil which puts a stronger fiber and a more enduring stamp of excellence into the live stock bred in our islands than are found in the same breed or species in any other part of the world.—London Times.

A City of Happy Homes.

Dalhousie took a walk in the cemetery, where he noticed on the tombstones, "Good Husband," "Good Wife," "Good Son."

"It is evidently here that the happiest homes are found," he reflected.—New Orleans.

MOUNT FUJIYAMA.

Japanese Pilgrimage to Its Tempest Swept Summit.

To the people of Japan the mount Fujiyama is sacred. The meaning of the word is "honorable mountain." During that brief six weeks of summer when Fujiyama's wild swept sides are climbable, writes A. M. Edwards in "Kakemono," the pilgrims come in thousands, in ten thousands. They dress themselves in white from head to foot. They carry long staves of pure white wood in their hands, each stamped with the temple crest, and in lands and companies they climb the mountain.

Always the leader at their head, his staff crowned with a tinkling mass of bells, like tiny cymbals, chants the hymn of Fujiyama. For six short summer weeks they come. Then the winds rush down, the snow falls, the tempests rage, and Lord Fujiyama lives alone.

No human being has yet stayed a winter on his summit, and even in the summer weeks the winds will blow the lava blocks from the walls of the rest houses and sometimes the pilgrim from the path.

Fujiyama stands alone, not one peak among a range, but utterly alone. Rising straight out of the sea on one side and from the great Tokyo plain on the other, his 12,385 feet in two long curving lines of exquisite grace rise up and up into the blue, and not an inch of one foot is hidden or lost. It is all there, visible as a tower built on a treeless plain. It dominates the landscape. It can be seen from thirteen provinces, and from a hundred miles at sea the pale white peak of Fujiyama floats above the blue.

AERIAL NAVIGATION.

The First Gas Bag and the First Dirigible Balloon.

On the 1st of December, 1783, when the first gas balloon rose from the Tuileries, carried up by Charles and Robert, the Marquis de Villemy, an octogenarian and skeptic, declared it was tempting God himself. He was rolled in his armchair to a window of his chateau to witness the impossibility of such an ascension. But the moment the aeronaut, gaily saluting the spectators, rose in the air, the old man, passing suddenly from the most complete incredulity to unlimited faith in the power of genius, fell upon his knees and exclaimed: "O men, ye will find the secret of never dying! And it will be when I am dead!"

The public, easily conforming the atmosphere with the astronomic heavens, already hailed the day when the aeronaut would continue his aerial course to the moon, to Venus, to Mars or Jupiter.

Pierre Giffard, then Dupuy de Lome, tried the first dirigible balloons. Later Captain Renard and Krebs in their aeroplanes, La France, went from Meudon to Paris and back at the same time that Gaston Tissandier was carrying out his fine experiments. But all progress was soon stopped by the weakness of the motors compared to their weight.

Nothing further could be done until the arrival of the explosive motor. In fact, it was the improvement in automobiles which won us the conquest of the air.

Hands and Feet.

It is said that Disraeli was prouder of his small hands than of all his great mental accomplishments. This was presumably because they were badges of aristocracy to their evidence that he had not been brought up to labor, and he worshipped aristocracy. And small feet of the same character—evidence that the possessor did not go barefoot when a child. Generations of carefully shod children of the nobility developed this characteristic of those of "gentle blood" as distinguished from the commonality. But such proofs of superiority were not meekly endured. In due time brazen commoners discovered that the "aristocratic hand" was not small, but long and slender, and then came the athletic multitude, who scorn small hands and feet as evidences of effeminacy.—Indianapolis Star.

Gray Hairs in Wall Street.

"It seemed to me down in New York the other day," remarked a Cleveland man who had just returned from the metropolis, "that one might almost recognize Wall street and the financial region by the number of gray haired young men you see. I had occasion to be in several offices on Wall street the other day, and I honestly believe more than half of the young men I saw had gray hair. I noticed the same thing along the street. It may have been just a coincidence, but I couldn't help wondering if they would have been gray just as soon if they had been at some other game for the last few years."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Stupid Fellow.

"Mary said 'No' to me last night," sighed Peter Solomon, "but I don't believe she could honestly tell why she did it."

"Oh, yes, she could," replied his cousin Kate. "She told me."

"Did she?"

"Yes; she said she didn't think you'd take 'No' for an answer."—Philadelphia Press.

THE SCOUT CRUISERS AND THE TURBINE ENGINE

With two of the three scout cruisers completed for the United States navy, holding the blue ribbon of the ocean for ships of their size it would seem that the criticism of the outsiders or paper experts of the navy had been answered and in a most effective style. Not only are the two cruisers the blue ribbon ships in speed but in coal consumption and in other ways do they lead the navies of the world. For England with its boasted navy, has nothing that compares with the Salem and Chester or for that matter the Birmingham, the least satisfactory of the three cruisers. With their fuel endurance they could cross the ocean and back again without taking on coal, and at a speed faster than that maintained by the Atlantic fleet they could make the trip around to the other coast of fourteen thousand miles without recouling.

The Providence Journal says: They are remarkable and in all respects satisfactory ships, splendid examples of American naval construction.

More significant, if not more interesting, than the speed and endurance achievements of the scout cruisers, is likely to be the result of the demonstration of three different types of engine which their records furnish. Probably the navy department is not prepared immediately to announce its determinations as to relative efficiency of the machinery, since the Salem is yet to be commissioned, and more practice may be desirable for the Chester and the Birmingham before full comparisons can be made. The Chester is equipped with the Parsons, or English, turbine, the Salem with the Curtis, or American, turbine; and the Birmingham with the best developed type of reciprocating engines. On the face of the trial records, the reciprocating engine is out of the running. With the marvellous examples of turbine efficiency in the mercantile marine, since the cruisers were planned, this result is not surprising. On the face of the returns, also, the American turbine does better than the English type, which is a distinct satisfaction.

The Curtis turbine, already employed in a few American coastwise steamships, is having its first testing for warships in the Salem. Clearly it has made a remarkable record. It is to be noted further that, so great is its confidence in the American type, the Japanese government has had constructed at the Fore River yard a Curtis engine for the new Dreadnought, while a second engine is now under construction for its all-biggun armored cruiser. One of the American Dreadnoughts, now on the stocks, will also be so equipped.

BIRD'S-EYE VIEWS

Commander Perry sailed Monday for the Arctic Ocean on what will probably be his last trip in search of the North Pole. He goes well equipped, for the experience of his last trip and of previous trips has been invaluable and if he does not reach the Pole this time it may well be said to be beyond human endurance.

Joel Harris, "Uncle Remus" is dead and the South will long mourn the loss of their greatest writer. Uncle Remus is known to every reader and his work will long keep his memory fresh.

Bishop Potter of New York, one of the most noted men of that city, is at death's door. The country can ill afford to lose a man of his type.

Still the hot weather continues and the only people who are now smiling are the summer hotel proprietors and the ice man. If it keeps on the last may have a worried look before the summer is out.

Company B of this city made a good showing at Pine Plains. They were a credit as the entire regiment to the state as well as the city.

The Democrats are now having their jump in Denver.

OUR EXCHANGES

End of a Holiday

The 4,000,000 New Yorkers who have a sigh of relief over the end of the recount will drop a tear of sympathy for the patriots who have been watching the boxes for three years at $1 a day. These poor fellows will have to go to work.—New York Evening Sun.

Never Falling

Mr. Taft has dropped his title of secretary as easily as a snake sheds its skin. But in so doing he has acquired the titular distinction of "Judge." Nine out of ten dispatches now refer to him as "Judge" Taft, a reminder of the familiar fact that if a man has ever sat upon a judicial bench, from that of a probate district up, he is always afterward justified in employing his original title. Secretaries may come and secretaries may go, but judges go on forever.—Providence Journal.

But Not Japanese

Baron Takahira approves of the speech given for all men and for American women.—Atlanta Constitution.

Not So Easy

Herman Ridder called on Mr. Bryan at Lincoln and besought him to get off the ticket. It's no use. They can't get Ridder Bryan so easily.—Portland Press.

Proper

Superintendent Maxwell of the New York public schools arose and gave his seat in the car to Miss Blank, the principal of an East Side school. "I am so sorry to have you get up," she said, smiling. "Don't speak of it," replied Dr. Maxwell, politely. "I always stand up for my principals." Exchange.

Can You Blame Him?

A salute of forty-six guns which the President has given the District of Columbia Democrats permission to fire in celebration of Mr. Bryan's nomination from the Washington Monument grounds will just about express Mr. Roosevelt's personal satisfaction with the choice of the Democratic convention.—N. Y. World.

It Was a Ball Game

It was noticeable that after 40 people were hurt by the collapse of the bleachers at New Bedford, the police first arrested the injured out of the ruins, next arrested the management and then showed the rest of the people back to their seats—and the baseball game went on. Talk about the ruling passion, strong even in death!—Boston Globe.

Good Old Joel

Joel Chandler Harris' last illness was protracted. His last journey away from home was as far back as when he was invited to dinner at the White House and was graciously permitted by his distinguished host to appear in a gray sack suit, instead of in conventional dinner dress. Uncle Remus abhorred what he called a shabby coat. When he was subsequently asked why the President had invited him to dinner, he modestly answered: "Really, I don't know, but I have a faint suspicion that the President knows more about my books than I do and he wanted to tell me about them."—Boston Herald.

Helpful Children.

Children are naturally restless and inclined to be busy, and this activity is susceptible of being trained and directed in the right channel. Children may be taught, when quite young, to perform light duties, each child having some particular task for the accomplishment of which he is responsible to the parents or guardian. They will thus learn to bear the yoke of duty while young, and the performance of their little tasks will become a pleasure, bringing them a happiness that is only gained by well-doing. They will become accustomed to work and responsibility, and will enjoy employment, perceiving that life holds for them more important business than that of simply amusing themselves. In the fulfillment of their appointed tasks, strength of memory and a right balance of mind may be gained, as well as stability of character and system. The day, with its round of little duties, calls for thought, calculation, and a plan of action. As the children become older, still more can be required of them, says the New York Weekly. It should not be exhaustive labor, nor should their work be so protracted as to fatigue and discourage them; but it should be judiciously selected, with reference to the physical development most desirable, and the proper cultivation of the mind and character. Work is in every way beneficial for children; they are happier to be usefully employed a part of the time; their innocent amusements are enjoyed with a keener zest after the successful completion of their tasks. Labor strengthens both the muscles and the mind. Mothers make precious little helpers of their children; and while teaching them to be useful they may themselves gain knowledge of human nature and how to deal with fresh young beings, and keep their hearts warm and youthful by contact with their little ones, and also teach the little ones to look to them in confidence and love. Children that are properly trained, as they grow older learn to love that labor which makes the burden of their friends lighter. This daily employment closes the door to many temptations to which the indolent are exposed.

The University of Chicago has established a special three-year course for young men desirous of entering the federal consular service, or of equipping themselves as commercial agents in the employ of American business concerns having relations abroad. This is one of the signs to be noted among all the universities of an attempt to make their work fit more closely the needs of the business world. It will be remembered that congress, acting under the inspiration of Secretary Root, two years ago, made positions in our consular service worth seeking. Some 300 such positions, paying salaries from $2,000 to $12,000, have been classified and placed on a graded salary, and President Roosevelt has brought the positions of consular general and consul under the merit system.

It is well known that cancer has apparently increased to a considerable degree during the last 25 or 30 years. A prominent Boston physician, in a recent public lecture under the auspices of the Harvard medical school, made a statement which is in part an explanation of this increase. It is due, he said, merely to the fact that better sanitary conditions and a greater knowledge of contagious diseases permit more people to live to the age when cancer most commonly develops—from 50 to 55. The explanation is interesting, will be new to many persons, and coming from such a source is entitled to much consideration.

King Manuel of Portugal says that if he cannot marry the girl he loves, he won't marry anybody. At this stage of the world it is not likely that even his own custom-bound subjects, to say nothing of this outside world, will think the less of him for being a manly young lover who risks to the girl of his heart, as well as a king.

A Mexican cabinet meeting to discuss a very critical question was delayed one day on account of one of the numerous holidays. When every day is a holiday in Mexico they can dispense with a cabinet.

In Texas the state imposes a tax of 50 per cent. on the gross proceeds of the sale of firearms. None is, therefore, for sale. They are "rented" for 60 years at the regular sale price.

YORK BEACH, ME.

Ralph Arams Victim of Giant Crackers or Impulsiveness

York Beach, Me., July 6.—Ralph Adams, a native of York Beach, while in the act of lighting a giant cracker, was severely burned, necessitating the services of a doctor. Three of his fingers were so badly burned that it is feared they will have to be amputated. This is about the worst accident that has happened at York this year.

A patriotic gathering assembled Friday night in front of the postoffice up to the small hours, welcoming in the Fourth. No accidents were reported.

The train due at 7.15 o'clock arrived in York at 9.15. Its arrival brought 300 related passengers. The impatient crowd was entertained by the Dartmouth boys with songs and college cries.

Two picnic parties arrived here Sunday from South Berwick.

Mrs. George W. Murray of Canaan is enjoying a stay at Young's hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Milliken of Woodsville are at the beach.

Mrs. C. B. Pollock and daughter Ida of Bristol are stopping at the Ocean house.

Mrs. F. E. Carleton and daughter Lenia of Detroit, Mich., are summering at the beach.

Mrs. Robert T. LaForce of Manchester is staying at the Kearsarge. J. O. Nutter of Bristol is stopping at the Ocean house.

Maurice Ready of Manchester is spending a few days at the beach.

CLAIM NO DECISION.

Young Kenny and Cote fought a draw at Rochester on Saturday night.

Young Kenny of Laurence who on Saturday night fought a draw with Cote of Biddleford at Rochester, called at the Chronicle office last night and wanted the statement made that Cote had been given a decision corrected, claiming that there was no decision. He showed a certificate from a local physician signed on Saturday which shows that at the time of the fight he was suffering from a foot that was infected and threatened with blood poisoning, but despite the advice of the physician he went on with Cote and fought a draw. He has several times got the decision over Cote and as soon as his foot is healed will fight him again.

His manager through the Chronicle issues a challenge to Cote for a twelve round bout, and will deposit with the Chronicle $200 for a side bet. The match to be at 133 pounds and after two weeks notice to allow both to get into condition. Young Kenny is very lame and is under the care of a physician in this city.

GET OUT YOUR RED FIRE

First Campaign Flag to Float on the Evening of July 13

On Monday evening, July 13, the Republicans will fly a new campaign flag on Pleasant street. There will be fireworks and a band to live up the occasion and some speakers of note will be heard to start the ball rolling in Portsmouth. Col. Leslie Norman has charge of the first gun to be fired and is working hard for the event. It is worthy of note that our colored friend, the Colonel, has been instrumental in arranging for the first Republican flag to go on the breeze since the nomination of General Grant.

THE CHAMPION MEAN MAN

A Newark, N. J., woman is suing her husband for divorce. This is not an extraordinary circumstance, but the conditions of this particular case are sufficiently different from the usual run to warrant attention. Indeed, it half that the wife alleges is true her husband ought not only to be divorced but sent to confinement for life. A man as mean as she describes him as being is not safe to be at large. It is only a question of time when he will own the earth.

Here are a few of the things that this woman alleges her husband did: He limited the number of cups of tea and coffee (say his family should use daily); he smashed the eggs, apples and onions as a cheek against extravagance; he wished all groceries to keep talk on their consumption, keep ing a set of scales under lock and key; he raised a tremendous fuss whenever a thick apple pie appeared on the table, arguing that a thin one would do just as well he counted the sticks of macaroni to guard against the use of too many at one meal; when his wife asked for more than the allowance of $2 a week for household expenses generously granted by him he packed his suit case and left home; but not before he had violently quarreled with his wife because she refused to punish their six-year-old son for not taking longer steps as his father commanded in the interest of saving of shoe leather.

This man easily wins the diamond belt for meanness. There may be others in the same class with him, but they are a sorry lot. Possibly this experience in Newark may teach a lesson. Maybe some of the young women matrimonially inclined will be warned by it to get a line on their prospective husbands' ideas of economy.

HAMPTON BEACH

Propitious Opening of Holiday Season at Popular Resort

Hampton Beach, July 7.—The holiday season at this resort was one of the most successful in the history of the beach. The hotels in many instances were heavily taxed and all places of business received a generous patronage. Saturday a stage line between Newmarket and the Stratham car barns was opened and thus people in that vicinity are now enabled to reach the beach, four trips being made each way, Saturday and Sunday of each week. A number of outings are being planned, and it is evident that the beach will be as busy a place as last season, if not busier.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newcomb have been entertaining as their guests for a short time, Miss Adin L. Emerson and Clarence Sawyer of Haverhill.

F. N. Gray of the U. S. S. Chester, now in Portsmouth harbor, is among the recent guests registered at the Avon House for a brief stay.

John Sless and family of the Colonial Theatre in Lawrence, Mass., has taken a cottage here for the entire season.

With the opening of the present season, fishing upon the mile-long bridge is again permitted. Boat passengers who indulge in the sport are obliged to pay toll, but those who alight from the cars are permitted to fish without payment.

Recent automobile arrivals at this resort include Walter S. Lawson and party, Somersworth; William P. Rollinson, Portsmouth; Roger G. Sullivan, Manchester; Harry B. Trafton, Portsmouth; John G. Fernald, Rochester; Harrison Alexander, West Perry; William D. Allen, Farmington; Ernest A. Currier, East Kingston, and many others.

Hans Leyonsburg, who has acted in the capacity of night watchman at the Casco property in former seasons, has returned to the beach from Manchester and has resumed his position for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Childs are among the recent arrivals at the Bay View House.

Mrs. Charles Newcomb has recently purchased a large tract of land on Marsh avenue, between the Gun club property and the garage.

Mrs. Julia Healy, Miss May P. Mahoney, Miss Margaret M. Quinn, all of Manchester, are enjoying the vacation season at the Javrin Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas May of Bedford are here for a stay of several days, the guests of friends at the north beach.

Miss Ethel H. Maloy of Nashua is passing a portion of the vacation season at the Polham Hotel.

William Cogswell of Manchester has been at this resort for a short stay with friends at the seashore.

LARGE CONTRACTS FOR TENTING

The war department has awarded contracts for cotton duck for tenting to be used by the army during the coming year. The contract calls for cotton duck of three grades and provides that it shall be awarded to three different firms. The successful bidders are all New York firms, although it is understood they represent manufacturers, and in this way the Consolidated Cotton-Duck Company of Baltimore will likely get its share, although the cotton duck company does not appear as an individual bidder. The successful bidders were Fred S. Bennett, Otto Guetze Company and John H. Meyer Company, New York. The total calls for an expenditure of about $350,000. About $750,000 was authorized by Congress for cotton duck supplies.

WORK WANTED

Odd jobs of all description, such as heating carpets, sawing wood, carving for cemetery lots, preparing and planting gardens, and trimming bushes a specialty, wanted by a reliable man. Orders can be left at No. 27 South street or telephoned to Tel. Number 319-3 and they will receive prompt attention.

HOT WEATHER A RECORD BREAKER

Temperature On Monday The Highest This Summer

Monday was the hottest day of the summer in this city and the same heat continued well into last night. The day opened with a temperature of eighty at eight o'clock in the morning and it gradually worked up until during the afternoon it was 94 in the shade. This intense heat continued to hold until after sundown and at 7.30 it was 89 above. At ten o'clock this had dropped to 84 and at midnight it fell into the seventies.

The heat was not felt as much as Sunday for there was a fresh breeze blowing the entire day and it was fairly comfortable about the city. The humidity was far less than on Sunday although the temperature was several degrees higher.

There was no cases of heat prostrations, and the laboring men about the city worked the entire day.

From Boston and other points in New England reports were received of record breaking figures for the day and in many cases there was a great deal of heat prostrations.

OPINIONS OF THE PEOPLE

Want a Bathing Place

Editor of the Herald:—This extreme weather reminds about everybody of the great need of a bathing place for this city, to take the place of the old one. To be sure, that was not the best ever and it was located too near a sewer to afford any pleasure in bathing, but still it gave relief to many hundred people during the summer months. It seems that with this great water front of ours that the city could get a space big enough to have a bathhouse. It would mean a lot of relief to the people who have not the time to go to the beaches.

CLERK.

Where Are These Honored Emblems?

Editor of the Herald:—Will the committee on fire department or on the city lands and buildings kindly tell us what has become of the signs on the central fire station of the hook and ladder and Recharge engine No. 3 and if these ornamental emblems, the pride of the men that make up the two companies, are going to be thrown on the dump.

Practice Economy Every Day

To the thrifty housewife who makes every dollar count, nothing in the food line is more acceptable than the new product called "OUR PRICE" put up in 10-cent packages for making lemon, chocolate, and custard pies. Every package is sold under a positive guarantee and makes two large pies. Local grocers say the sale is rapidly increasing and customers are well pleased. Readers can make no mistake in giving these goods a trial.

Hot Stove—Cool Kitchen

How do you expect to endure the broiling days of summer if you prepare all the food over a glowing coal fire? You need a "New Perfection" Oil Stove that will do the cooking without cooking the cook. It concentrates plenty of heat under the pot and diffuses little or none through the room. Therefore, when working with the the kitchen actually seems as comfortable as you could wish it to be.

This, in itself, is wonderful, but, more than that, the "New Perfection" Oil Stove does perfectly everything that any stove can do. It is an ideal all-round cook-stove. Made in three sizes, and fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

The Rayo Lamp

A substantial, strongly made and handsome lamp. Illuminates with a strong, mellow light. Just what you need for evening reading or to light the dining-room. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

THE WEATHER

This was another hot day, in fact, it had a little over them all, for at two o'clock the temperature was 91 at the Herald office in the shade. It started in early, in fact, it was yesterday's weather simply warmed up and a little more heat added, for at midnight it was about 80 and it began to get warmer as the day grew longer and at noon it was in the nineties. The wind swung from the northwest to southeast and there was hardly any breeze at all going.

CITY BRIEFS

Who said it was hot?
Take a swim in the ocean.
Not a move at the paper mill.

Railroad travel is something enormous.
Do your shopping at home and save money.
Have your shoes repaired at John McT's, 31 Congress street.
The Kildare Club still has some Fourth of July fireworks left.
The central fire station looks much improved with its coat of paint.
The Herald is the paper that prints the news while it is news.
The first big move is the matter of a campaign flag was made today.
The Naval band will give two concerts at Quamphagan Park on Friday.
The extreme hot weather and the drought has affected the hay crop in Maine.
Dance tonight at Quamphagan Park. Special cars to this city after the dance.
The visit of the training squadron will bring several thousand visitors to Portsmouth.
The water being put on the streets would be of more service on the lawns about town.
It was a hot one last night, with the temperature five degrees greater than Sunday night.
It is said that Ezra Towle will attend the Republican flag raising on the thirteenth of July.
There were several drinks on the place blower last night. The heat was too much for some of them.
Take a ride to cool Quamphagan Park this evening and enjoy a dance on a good floor to good music and cool weather.
The summer of 1908 if it continues the same as for the past two weeks will go down in the annals of the weather man as the hottest ever.

There is not any great interest being taken here in the Denver Convention. Everything seems to be one-sided and the only interest is in the disposition of the anti-injunction plank.
There will be a dance at Quamphagan Park this evening. You are invited to come and bring your friends. A good time is assured.
The drinking fountain in front of the Post office is out of commission. It is generally this way every year, but with the extreme heat it would be appreciated if the water was turned on.
The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. James Blibber, Woodbury avenue Wednesday at three o'clock. This will be the last opportunity to see the comfort bags for the ship New Hampshire, which are nearly completed.
There was a great wave of prosperity sweep over the country Monday and thousands of workmen were set to work who have been loafing for months. In Pittsburg alone 50,000 men started at work in the shops that reopened on that day.

OBSERVED FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Wilson
Former Kittery Residents
Celebrate at Nahant

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Wilson of Nahant, formerly residents of Kittery, where they were married, celebrated on Monday evening the fortieth anniversary of their wedding and entertained in honor of the event some two hundred guests at their handsome home in that town. Among the guests was Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., and many society people of Boston and the surrounding resorts.

They were both natives of Kittery and were married in that town July 6, 1868, by Rev. W. P. Cottle, the pastor of the First Christian Church. Mrs. Wilson did not change her name when she was married, for she was born a Wilson, being a daughter of Captain Albert Wilson, a well known sea captain of that town. Mr. Wilson is the son of the late Joseph Wilson of Kittery and previous to his marriage he had followed the sea and had worked as a carpenter.

After their marriage they left at once for Nahant, where they have since resided. Mr. Wilson started a carpenter business and this soon developed into a first class contracting firm and he is now one of the largest contractors in that section. He has built about all of the big houses along the North Shore, the most pretentious being the million dollar palace of Henry F. Felt, the Pittsburg steel man.

Mr. Wilson has a wonderful record in the politics of the town of Nahant. He was for twenty-five years the chairman of the school board, over thirty years the chairman of the selectmen and assessors of taxes and moderator of the town meeting ever since he entered politics until last year when he refused to serve any longer. He was one of the two trial justices ever appointed in Massachusetts, being appointed by Governor Rice.

The couple have had three children, Fred A. Wilson, in business with his father, Miss Abbie Wilson and Mrs. Nellie Richmond of Chestnut Hill.

$5000 SET ASIDE FOR BOULEVARD

Will be Used to Extend Road From Hampton Beach to Rye Beach

The Governor and council have set aside the sum of $5000 for the extension of the state ocean boulevard from Hampton Beach via the Big and Little Boar's Head. The extension will be over the old roads and this sum of money will go a considerable way. Much credit is due Comptroller W. H. C. Follansbee of Exeter for securing this sum, for the council has been in favor of improving the mountain roads before doing anything more at this end of the state.

In addition to the above sum $1500 was allowed for the repair of the road already built and this includes the filling which has been done.

AT THE NAVY YARD

In the resignation of Michael E. Long as foreman boilermaker the station will lose a good man in every sense of the word. Mr. Long has been employed on the yard nearly forty years as a mechanic and foreman and has during those years established a record in each capacity that is certainly honorable. He is a man that at all times had the respect of his fellow workmen and superior officers and will be greatly missed among all classes of workmen at the station.

A new clerk in the office of steam engineering reported for duty today.

Fifteen shipfitters' helpers were called today in the construction and repair.

Orders have been issued to ship 80 water breakers to New York Navy yard.

The tug Neadinet and a yard crew started on Monday with the water barge in tow for the New York yard.

FOREMAN M. E. LONG RESIGNS

For Years Head Of Boiler Shop At Navy Yard --- Ill Health Cause Of Resignation

Michael E. Long master boiler maker at the navy yard, has resigned his position to take effect at once. Mr. Long has been failing in health for some time and he has been compelled to give up his position on the yard on account of the same.

Mr. Long is one of the best known and most popular foremen in the navy yard and he has been at the head of this shop for many years, and had just become installed in his new shop one of the finest in the country when his health gave out on him and he is compelled to give up active work. He is a well known veteran of the Civil War and has served in the city council and on the Board of Instruction in this city, and in everything he has been faithful to his trust.

It is with regret that both officers and men at the yard hear of his resignation.

HOWELL H. BRACKETT

IN TROUBLE

Arrested in Haverhill for Alleged Attempt to Break Into a Drug Store

A former Portsmouth resident, Howell H. Brackett, gets in a queer mess in Haverhill where he has been employed as usher in a theatre. Brackett with a companion, George Everett Hubbard, better known as "Erc" the handcuff king, was caught on Sunday morning at 1.39 in the rear of the drug store of Gammon and Broderick and when the police approached them Hubbard ran away. The officer then arrested Brackett, who told Hubbard's name and where the police could find him. Later he was arrested in a lodging house and both held for the district court.

Hubbard has appeared in many of the smaller theatres, performing feats with handcuffs. Brackett had worked in the drug store where the attempt at burglary was made. He was formerly a brakeman in the passenger department of the Boston and Maine railroad and while here was employed as clerk in a local drug store.
